

Mail to Viet Nam Is Tough Postal Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it comes to priorities in getting the goods to the GI in South Viet Nam, the mail is right up there with bullets, beans and band-aids.

And if Post Office and Pentagon accounts are accurate, letters and packages are reaching U.S. servicemen in Southeast Asia with a speed and efficiency that makes the mail service of World War II and Korea look like the Pony Express.

Vietnamese postal service is something else again. For instance, some Christmas cards mailed in the United States last December were delivered in June. Instances of lost or undelivered mail are too numerous to count. Airmail from the United States averages six or seven days but is erratic.

The mail volume is increasing monthly. Last year the Army and Air Force alone accounted for more than 40,000 tons of mail between Viet Nam and the United States and within the Pacific Command area. It cost the Defense Department $34 million to move that mail between Asia and the U.S. West Coast—and that figure doesn't include the costs for moving military mail within this country.

It's a slow boat to Viet Nam for larger packages. Unless the sender is willing to pay the relatively high cost of air parcel post — although it's cheaper than it used to be — he must expect a delay of 40 to 65 days for the over-five-pound parcel to reach its destination.

These heavier packages cross the United States by train or truck, and then wait in San Francisco until a ship leaves for the 21-day trip across the Pacific.

When the ship reaches the harbor at Saigon, it runs into a huge logjam. Finally the packages are distributed in Saigon, then in the field.

A Post Office Department official said: "If you can break those shipments into separate mailings of five pounds or less, you're at least a month ahead of the game."

Every effort has been made to streamline military mail service, with these results:

— A five-cent stamp will take a letter by air all the way — across the nation, across the Pacific, and within Viet Nam, where road networks are poor or don't exist.

— For the parcel post rate to San Francisco, a package weighing up to five pounds will get a free jet ride across the Pacific.

— Servicemen in Viet Nam need only write "free mail" on their letters to have them flown to the United States, its possessions and Canada. For parcels, servicemen pay postage from their local postal unit to Saigon.

— U.S. Servicemen in military hospitals in Japan or the United States also have free-mail privilege if they were wounded or became ill in Viet Nam.

Frequent complaints: — When a serviceman is killed in Viet Nam, all mail that was destined for him is held until the Army has verified that relatives have been officially notified. Only then is it returned to the senders.

"We've had complaints about this," Col. Charles Azevedo, a Pentagon mail officer, said. "But we just don't want the family, ignorant of what's happened, wondering what's wrong when the mail comes back."

— "When a man is wounded and evacuated into the hospital system, we take the time to see that his mail follows him all the way. This causes some delays, and we do get complaints."

— "We do have losses. Planes crash and burn. But considering the volume we handle, our mail losses are no greater than those in the domestic postal service."

He said the Pentagon investigates every complaint, even if this takes a special radio message.

The Pentagon has these suggestions for Viet Nam mailers:

— Use a five-cent stamp for letters. They'll go by air. But use a plain white envelope and don't write "air mail" on it or you'll be charged the usual eight-cent air mail rate.

— No matter how you feel about zip code numbers, don't fail to use the five-digit APO number in the San Francisco address. It's a locator number that can save days.

— If you can break up shipments into parcels of five pounds or less, it's much to your advantage to do so.

"We think we know what the men in Viet Nam really want from home," Azevedo said, "and that is letter mail."

"One veteran has suggested this: Perhaps a daily short note on little things like what you had for dinner, your shopping trip, what the family is doing."

"And maybe twice a month, a longer letter with news about the house, some snapshots, how the garden is growing, how his friends are. And don't forget to write about the family financial status if he is the provider."

"Once a month, perhaps a package — under five pounds, of course — with cookies, some peanuts or other snack. But no candy — it's too hot."

"No weapons, please. It's against service policy for our men to have personal weapons. We think we supply them adequately."

2 Bogalusa Men Held for Murder

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Police have arrested two Bogalusa white men and charged them with murder in the shooting of a Negro.

Charged Monday were Homer R. Seale and John W. Copling Jr., both 36.

Police said they were accused of killing Clarence Triggs, 24, a construction worker, whose body was found last Saturday beside the wrecked car registered in the name of Seale's wife. Triggs had been shot in the head.

Police Chief Claxton Knight said there were no racial implications in the death but added that authorities were "conducting an intensive investigation."

Must Sign 3 Months Before 65

The initial Medicare enrollment of people now over age 65 is about complete, according to Otis A. Blackwood, Texarkana Social Security district manager. The important thing that every person hearing age 65 should know now, Blackwood says, is that there is a definite enrollment period for them.

According to law, every person must enroll during the 3-month period before the month he reaches age 65 for his coverage to be effective with the month he is 65. If he enrolls in the month he reaches age 65, his coverage is not effective until the next month. If a person waits until the third month after he reaches age 65 to enroll, his coverage will not be effective until the third month after the month he enrolled. These are important considerations, and Blackwood urges everyone to enroll during the three-month period before they reach 65.

Blackwood also pointed out a major misconception held by many people who are hearing 65 and are still working. Many of these people intend to continue working past age 65 and think they should wait until they retire and quit working before they file an application for Medicare. This is entirely incorrect, Blackwood said. These individuals should file their claims for Medicare during the three-month period before they reach age 65. Their coverage will then be effective even though they are not retired.

The Texarkana Social Security office is located at 121 College Drive, and is open from 8:30 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. Monday — Friday. In addition, it is kept open until 8:45 p.m. each Thursday evening as a convenience for those who cannot come in during the day.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Change comes to Hollywood by extremes—very fast or very slow.

The instant success of ABC's "Batman" last season immediately turned television's attention to other cartoon and old radio characters. Next season ABC will follow up with "The Green Hornet," and NBC is preparing a TV version of "Dick Tracy."

Other similar properties, including "Orphan Annie," are available.

The same thing has happened before—"The Man From U.N.C.L.E." unleashed a rash of shows with James Bond heroes. And it will happen again with "The Girl From U.N.C.L.E." on NBC next season.

The fantasy ad, kicked off two seasons ago with "Be-witched," appears to be waning. Its last vestige will be "It's About Time," a CBS comedy about a couple of astronauts caught in a space mishap that lands them back on earth a million years ago. The show will bid for laughs by contrasting modern men with their ancestors.

Space adventure and science fiction will figure prominently in next season's scheduled, undoubtedly because "Lost In Space" and "Voyage To The Bottom Of The Sea" have done pretty well. Upcoming: "Star Trek" on NBC and "Time Tunnel" on ABC.

NBC, obviously upset by ABC's last-minute decision to launch most of its new programs a week ahead of the planned three-network premiere week, announced Monday it would have "sneak previews" of three new programs a week early, too. Thus on Thursday, Sept. 8, we can get our first look at "Star Trek," "The Hero," a comedy about a TV star, and "Tarzan."

Bolivia is named for Simon Bolivar, its liberator.

Park Fund Set Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus today announced approval of $90,507.50 for the acquisition and development of outdoor recreational facilities in Madison, Cleburne and Pope counties.

The federal grant will be taken from the Land and Water Conservation Fund and will be on a 50-50 matching basis with the state providing its share either in cash or services.

The governor said $29,607.50 of the total amount would be used to buy about 100 acres of land located seven miles north of Huntsville as an addition to Withrow Springs State Park.

After the land is purchased, plans call for installation of sewage facilities, a water system, swimming pool, bath houses, picnic units, campsites, special roads and parking facilities.

Funds in the amount of $5,250 will be used in Cleburne County to acquire 56.6 acres of land located 21 miles north of Hector on Arkansas 27 for the Van Cleave Azalea Farm State Park.

This property will be used to preserve the beauty of the wild azaleas, as well as provide a wild bird sanctuary and game preserve, Faubus said.

The remaining $55,650 will go to the development of Spring Park in downtown Heber Springs, which will include a band pavilion, sidewalks, children's play area, parking and picnic facilities, amphitheater and the renovation of Spring House.

Bargains in Stocks Fail to Attract

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices have dropped so low that gains to be had. But the public has lacked interest.

Investors seem to be concentrating more on the clouds on the economic horizon than on the sunny sky overhead where statistical records still appear with much of their old regularity. Brokers insist there are bargains elsewhere.

The public has been looking for bargains elsewhere—in the bond market, and in the interest rate war between financial institutions.

It has ignored the boost to stocks that would seem to lie in the continuing rise in industrial production through June and in the 11 per cent gain in profits in recent months, compared with a year ago.

Brokers explain the steep drops recently in stock prices as less the result of any rush to sell than of simple lack of any urge to buy—bargains or not.

Tight money gets much of the blame, because it means investors can get bigger yields from things other than stocks.

But also playing a big role just now is the fear that a major labor-management fracas lies ahead. Union wage demands are growing—and the public has been made aware of them by strikes that disrupted transportation, or medical service, or production lines of industries short of supplies.

Some expect labor demands to get so high next year that management will refuse to accept them. Or, if the demands are accepted, rising production costs could pinch off the profits that industry says it must have.

To the investor all this spells caution in buying stocks.

Some potential buyers of stocks may also have been frightened away by all the talk that rising living costs and growing fiscal demands of the war in Viet Nam will lead to higher taxes after the fall elections. Higher taxes on corporate income will affect profits. And higher taxes on individuals will slow purchases of industry's products.

What slowdown there has been in the economy so far has been largely concentrated in two fields that the public is always well aware of—autos and housing.

But the general economy is still on the upswing, even if some investors are suspicious about the future for some industries and some corporations.

In the stock market it's been a long, hot summer—and many will be happy when the day comes for the bears to hibernate.

Neutralized Zone Used by Cong

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says Communist forces are using the demilitarized zone "as an entry way to South Viet Nam."

Defending U.S. bombing raids in the zone separating North and South Viet Nam, McNamara said: "We have reason to believe as many as three North Vietnamese regiments have infiltrated through the demilitarized zone in recent weeks."

McNamara, talking with newsmen after a closed session with a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, added that there is no indication Communist troops are massing for a large-scale invasion of South Viet Nam.

Concerning U.S. troop commitments in Europe, he repeated that the United States does not plan to reduce its "present capabilities" or its share of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

Henderson to Graduate 5 From Hope

ARKADELPHIA — Five students from Hope are among 185 students who will be candidates for degrees at the summer commencement slated for August 12 at Henderson State Teachers College.

General John Paul McConnell, Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, will be the guest speaker at the graduation exercises to be held in Haygood Stadium.

Two of the five Hope students are candidates for the Masters of Science in Education degree. They are Martin V. Pool Jr., and William Donnie Sillavan, Pool received a B. S. E. from Henderson.

There are two matters in connection with diabetes that need further comment. Although the jet injector, which uses no needle, can be successfully operated after a short period of training, even the cheaper models are expensive. The secret of painless injection with a needle is to have a sharp needle and insert it quickly. Disposable needles are now available. Since they are used but once they need not be resharpened.

Another boon, especially to mothers of diabetic children, is the B-D Busher Automatic Injector. It is placed at the point to be injected and a spring is released which insures speedy insertion of the needle. It is easy to operate and should be available through any large drug company. The price is $7.50.

The other matter is the advisability of all diabetics owning a good diabetic manual. One that can be recommended is "How to Live With Diabetes," by Dolger and Seeman (W. W. Norton. Price $4.50) which was revised in 1965.

My only criticism of the book—a minor one—is that in the chapter on complications there is no mention of diabetic retinitis, which may lead to blindness, or diabetic neuritis, and very little about diabetic gangrene of the toes.

Q—What harmful effects can Chloromycetin have on a person who has taken it for over a year?

A—Chloromycetin (Chloromycetin) is an antibiotic that is effective against a number of disease germs. If extended treatment is required, a switch to another antibiotic should be made. Prolonged treatment with chloromycetin destroys the blood-forming ability of the bone marrow and causes a reduction in both white and red blood cells. Anyone taking this drug for more than two weeks should have frequent blood counts.

Q—I am allergic to horse serum. What is the difference between toxin and antitoxin. Can they be fatal?

A—Toxin is the poison produced by disease germs. It can be fatal. Antitoxin is an immunizing agent. Most antitoxins are made by injecting toxins into a horse and refining the horse's serum after the horse has produced a high concentration of antitoxin. If you are allergic to horse serum a large dose of antitoxin could be fatal. Your doctor would know whether any injection he wished to give you contained horse serum and he could substitute a different antitoxin. Before doing so he could test you for allergy to the substitute serum.

CIRCLE 1 WSCS
Circle 1 WSCS of the First Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. C. V. Nunn at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, August 1.
The meeting was opened with prayer by circle leader, Mrs. Johnnie Green and she welcomed two visitors, Mrs. Harry McLeMore, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, and Miss Joan Watkins.
During the business session new program material was discussed and "Christmas in August" offering was taken.

Mrs. Steve Bader had charge of the program and she used the 13th chapter of 1st Corinthians for her scripture. A skit entitled, "Conversation on the Spiritual Classics" was presented by Mrs. Bader and Mrs. Johnnie Green. The program was concluded with Miss Joan Watkins singing a solo, "How Great Thou Art."

During the fellowship hour, refreshments were served by the hostess to the ten members and two visitors.

CIRCLE 3 WSCS
Mrs. W. C. Miller, Sr. and Mrs. Frank Miller were co-hostess for Circle 3 WSCS of the First Methodist Church on Monday morning, August 1.

The meeting was held in the lovely new home of Mrs. Hugh Reese, daughter of Mrs. W. C. Miller, Sr., where arrangements of summer flowers were placed at vantage points throughout the house.

Due to the absence of the leader, Mrs. Edwin Ward presided and opened the meeting with prayer. After conducting a short business session, Mrs. H. O. Kyler, Sr., presented the worship and program.

She reviewed an interesting article entitled, "Affluency and Poverty," contrasting the conditions of wealth and poverty, Mrs. Kyler illustrated her talk with pictures and lead the group in open discussion.

This program was a prologue to the mission study to be held later dealing with underprivileged peoples of the world.

At the conclusion of the meeting delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Melissa Reese to 13 members present.

BUILDERS SUNDAY SCHOOL
Members of the Builders Sunday School Class, Garrett Memorial Baptist Church, feted Miss Judy Hartsfield with a bridal shower in the Fellowship Hall of the church on Friday, July 22. The honoree will be married to A-

Paul Jackson on August 5.
Attired in a blue crepe dress, the bride-elect was presented a corsage of fleur d'amour. She also received many nice gifts which were displayed on a table further enhanced with yellow roses.
Mrs. Herbert Hartsfield, mother of the honoree, was among the guests, as was the mother and sister of the groom-elect, Mrs. Willis Jackson and Miss Sarah Jackson, both of Stamps. A clever game was played with Mrs. Bryan Clark the winner. The group of friends also wrote recipes for the future bride.

Refreshments were served from a table overlaid with a yellow cloth and decorated with the bride's chosen colors, green and white. A miniature bride and groom centered the table where yellow fruit punch was served by Mrs. Wade Warren and cake squares topped with wedding rings by Mrs. Bill Cross.

CENTERVILLE CLUB
The Centerville Extension Homemakers Club met with Mrs. Porter Powers on Wednesday, July 20, and Mrs. Vernie Goynes presided over the meeting. All joined in singing, "In the Good Ole Summertime" before the hostess read Psalm 23:1 for the devotion. Prayer was voiced by Mrs. Goynes.

The Eye Opener was a demonstration by Mrs. Goynes of how to make "The Three Wise Men" from detergent bottles. Members answered the roll call with "One Way I Make Friends." The president made a report on a committee meeting, and in conclusion all repeated the Homemakers Prayer.

During the social hour several games were played, and for refreshments cake, punch, and cold drinks were served to six members and one visitor, Mrs. Alfred Bearden.

HOPE COUNTRY CLUB
The Hope Country Club Ladies Dessert-Bridge was held on Thursday, July 28 with Mrs. E. H. Stewart, Mrs. E. M. McWilliams, and Mrs. Earl O'Neal as hostesses. Zinnias and mixed summer flowers were seen in floral arrangements throughout the clubhouse.

As the guests arrived, they were served peach shortcake. Later bridge was played at four tables. High scorer for the afternoon was Mrs. E. M. McWilliams, and second high was Mrs. E. J. Whitman. The consolation prize went to Mrs. Forney Holt, and Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr. tied with Mrs. E. H. Stewart for the game prize.

A CRY FOR HELP
Dear Helen: Several times lately our daughter's diary has been open on her desk. I have always closed it without reading and put it away. If she trusts me enough to leave her personal writing exposed, then certainly I felt I shouldn't betray that trust by "snooping".
But yesterday as I was dusting I gave in to curiosity and what I read shocked me. Our quiet girl, who we thought well-balanced and very mature, is a terribly mixed-up child.
She has allowed too many privileges to a boy we thought we could trust, and her diary said, "Half the time I hate him and the other half I hate myself, but if I break off he'll tell everybody, and sometimes I wish I was brave enough to die. . . But then I love him too, I guess, when I'm not hating him. . . And I feel so alone. . ."

Helen if she learns I've read her diary, she'll hate me too. We're alike in a way, because neither of us can talk as well as we can write our feelings, yet we do love each other. I want to help. How can I? — Sneak Dear Sneak: You've been more blind than sneaky if you can't see your daughter's open diary is a cry for help from a girl who has never learned to ask for it. She wanted you to read — why else would she have left it exposed? Here's a suggestion: Clip my answer to the diary page, and underline the following: "Let's have that long-over due talk, honey, we will work this out together."

You can, you know, once you realize how much each of you needs the other. — H.

Dear Helen: I don't see how a woman could want a man who is no husband to her. He leaves for work before she gets up, and comes home at night after she is in bed.
Yet she is giving me a hard time. The other day she came to the office where I work as his secretary, and told me she had no intention of giving him up after 30 years of marriage. She said that I was not the first "extra" in his life and I wouldn't be the last, as this had gone on for 15 years; but I was giving her the most trouble.
I don't believe her. He tells me all about how cold she is and I'm the only thing that keeps him going. He has been very good to me; has given me presents of clothes and a small car, and even takes my young children on week-ends with us when I am unable to get a baby sitter. But I want to get a baby for myself and my family. How can I get this selfish woman to see things my way? — Divorcee

Dear Divorcee: My dear, you (and all the other "extras") are keeping this elderly playboy going all right: straight back to his wife of 30 years.

Your boss is on a long tether, but he'll never pull up the stake. Why should he, with such liberal grazing privileges? — H.

Dear Helen: Thanks for printing the letter from "Ready to Serve" about the inhumanity of man toward small businesses. Just one thing I'd like to add: People buy full bottles at the supermarket, then bring back the empties for us to cash in. — Corner Crocer

Detroit's 4-Hitter Beats Sox

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Charlie Dressen had some fatherly advice for Denny McLain, a happily married man: Quit playing around with curves.
McLain took the advice and stayed out of trouble for the first time in exactly three weeks, pitching a four-hitter Tuesday night as Detroit defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-0.
McLain, the Tigers' ace 22-year-old right-hander, hadn't won a game since the All-Star Game July 12 at which time his family, including father-in-law, Lou Boudreau, watched him hurl three perfect innings as the American League's starting pitcher.

"I was beginning to think I was never going to win another one," said McLain, who was battered for 19 runs in 18 1-3 innings — that's an earned run average of 9.34 — while dropping four straight games.
Then a few hours before going out to face the White Sox, McLain received a telephone call from Dressen, the Detroit manager who is recuperating from an early season heart attack.
"He told me to quit fooling around with the curve ball or else I'd be right back where I started," McLain said after blanking the White Sox.
"Bill Freehan (Tiger catcher) and I were talking about the same thing a couple of days ago. We figured that three of the four losses I suffered were because of mistakes I made with the curve."

En route to his 14th victory against eight defeats, McLain gave up just four singles and allowed only one runner to reach second base.
Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 8-6, California edged New York 6-5 in 11 innings, Minnesota downed Boston 7-3 and Kansas City nipped Washington 4-3.

In the National League, San Francisco edged New York 5-4, Pittsburgh nipped Los Angeles 6-3, Philadelphia eased by Houston 4-3, Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 6-3 and Chicago stopped Atlanta 6-5 in 12 innings.

Orlando McFarlane, who caught McLain for the first time, supported his battery mate with a two-run homer in the fourth inning. Gates Brown homered for the Tigers in the eighth.

Paul Schaal lined a shot past Mickey Mantle in center field in the 11th inning and raced around the bases for an inside-the-park home run, giving California its 28th victory in 39 one-run games. The Angels tied the game 5-5 in the ninth on run-scoring singles by Jay Johnstone and Jim Fregosi.

Dave Johnson led the Baltimore attack, driving in four runs with a homer and sacrifice fly. The Orioles jumped on Sam McDowell for five runs in the third inning, but they needed Johnson's homer to snap a 5-3 tie in the seventh. Rocky Colavito homered for Cleveland.

Rico Petronelli tied the game 3-3 for Boston in the eighth, but Jimmie Hall won it for Minnesota in the ninth with a two-out grand-slam homer off Don McMahon. Don Demeter hit a two-run Red Sox homer while Tony Oliva drove in two Twins runs with a single.

Bert Campaneris capped Kansas City's three-run rally in the sixth inning with a two-run, inside-the-park homer. Ed Charles had tied the game 2-2 when he led off the inning with a triple and scored on Ed Brinkman's error. Ken McMullen knocked in two Washington runs with a single and a double.

Griffith Can't Hold 2 Titles

Veteran Pro Quarterbacks Still Going

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's nothing wrong with George Blanda, at 39 still one of the best quarterbacks in pro football.

Johnny Unitas and Sonny Jurgensen, two other veteran quarterbacks, try tonight to show they are okay, too.

Blanda fired the Houston Oilers to a 26-17 victory over the Oakland Raiders in an American Football League exhibition Tuesday night. Unitas, of the Baltimore Colts, and Jurgensen, of the Washington Redskins, battle each other in a National League exhibition tonight.

Blanda delighted a Houston turnout of 36,935 by passing for two touchdowns in addition to kicking four field goals and two extra points. Altogether Blanda passed for 144 yards and played what coach Wally Lemm termed a "very good game."

A sellout of 46,000 is expected for the Unitas-Jurgensen meeting in the Washington, D.C. Stadium. Unitas, who underwent surgery during the winter, tests his injured right knee. Jurgensen, trimmed down to 195 pounds, is expected to create a good or bad image for the 1966 Redskins.

Jim Nance also showed Tuesday night that he may be one of the best backs this season for the Boston Patriots, the 245-pound fullback from Syracuse starred in the intra-squad exhibition charity game at Quincy, Mass., as the Patriot veterans beat the rookies 16-2. He ground out 58 yards in 12 carries and caught three passes for 63 yards.

In another development Tuesday night John Brodie, holdout quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, arrived at San Francisco from Honolulu amid reports that he was near signing a contract.

"No comment" was Brodie's reply to all questions.

Bob Long, of the NFL Green Bay Packers, reinjured his knee trying to catch a pass during a workout for the Packers' Friday night game in Chicago against the College All-Stars.

Fullback Cookie Gilchrist, who said Monday he didn't want to play with Denver in the AFL, will be placed on the league's reserve list. Jim Burris, executive vice president of the Broncos, said this is equivalent to suspension.

Public Shut Out From Clay Camp

LONDON (AP) — World heavyweight champion Cassius Clay has banned the public from his final workout today for his title fight Saturday with Britain's Brian London.

Reason for the secrecy: Spies, says Clay.

"Spectators are banned from now until fight time," Clay told newsmen.

"There are too many spies here, spies sending films and reports of my training back to Brian London."

The former British heavyweight champion said he expected to tip the scales at his best fighting weight of 198 pounds on Saturday.

Clay now weighs 205½, just over three pounds heavier than when he stopped British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper in the sixth round of their London title fight May 21.

Said London: "I have never felt better. And I'm not talking only about my physical condition. In the old days I never seemed to be in quite the right shape psychologically."

"I was sullen and impatient. Now I'm relaxed.
"I know I'm the underdog but so was Clay when he beat Sonny Liston, and the betting against England was something like 8-1 when they set out to win the World (Sugar) Cup."

Okay, Wake Village Win in District

In the first game Tuesday night, Okay upset Womack's of Texarkana 5-0 in Little League district play at Legion Field here.

Jim Fincher was the winning pitcher and Jerry McCommas was the loser.

Fincher gave up 3 hits and struck out eight batters. Larry Crank had two of Womack's hits and Joe Hensley had the other. For Okay, Doug Caldwell and Eddie Delaney each had two doubles.

In the second and final game of the night, Wake Village of Texarkana defeated Prescott 5 to 1 in a game delayed an hour because of rain. Purdie of Wake Village pitched a no-hitter. Stockton was the losing pitcher. Purdie had 2 hits for the winners, Wake Village had 6 hits for the night.

Play resumes tonight at 6:30.

All-Star Is Great Stage for Players

By JOE MOOSHILL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Somehow, somewhere a player will make a lasting name for himself Friday night when the College All-Stars meet the Green Bay Packers in Soldier Field.

That name could be among such backs as Donny Anderson of Texas Tech, Jim Grabowski of Illinois, Roy Shivers of Utah State or linebackers Doug Buffone of Louisville, Tommy Nobis of Texas and Don Hansen of Illinois or end Aaron Brown of Minnesota.

Or somewhere along the line it might be a player who makes his way among the ranks of the unknown.

Down through the years, players who have excelled in the All-Star Game have gone to greatness in professional football.

Back in 1937, the College All-Stars dealt the Green Bay Packers a 6-0 defeat on a Sammy Baugh to Gaynell Tinsley touchdown pass.

The following year Cecil Isbell of Purdue directed the All-Stars to a 28-16 triumph over Washington.

The Collegians had to wait five years for another victory and then topped the Washington Redskins 27-7 when Otto Graham intercepted a Baugh pass and ran 97 yards for a touchdown.

Graham, currently coach of the Redskins, was the All-Star coach for seven years before John Sauer became the pilot this year.

In 1946, Elroy Hirsch rambled 68 yards for a touchdown and then grabbed a 36-yard pass from Graham for still another score as World War II players were still eligible for competition.

George Ratterman of Notre Dame became a sudden hero in 1947 as he fired a pair of touchdown passes for a 16-0 triumph over the Chicago Bears. Ratterman had been a second stringer for the Irish before proving himself in the All-Star Game.

Charles Gogolak of Princeton is the field-goal booter for the All-Stars this year. If things go right he might be the hero of the game.

Fenwick in Repeat Win at Camden

Lee Fenwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fenwick, 801 South Main St., successfully defended his Quachita Valley Junior Golf Championship at the Camden Golf and Country Club Tuesday.

Fenwick struggling with with an errant driver during the early holes, turned to a No. 1 iron off the tee touring the final holes of the long and rugged Camden course two under par for an even par 71.

Some 115 boys from four states participated in the annual event.

Pirates Beat Dodgers in Tight Race

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Juan Marichal and Manny Mota, whose last get-together gave San Francisco a big scare, have held a long-distance reunion...and given the Giants a big lift.

Pittsburgh's Mota, a former Giant outfielder who inadvertently put Marichal out of action a week ago, doubled home an eighth-inning run Tuesday night that gave the Pirates a 6-5 victory over Los Angeles.

Marichal, meanwhile, made his first appearance for the Giants since Mota slammed a car door on his pitching hand and beat New York 5-4 for his 17th victory, tying the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax for the major league lead.

The combination of San Francisco victory and Los Angeles defeat sent the Giants back into first place in the tight National League race, one game ahead of the Dodgers and Pirates.

The car-door incident occurred last Tuesday night in San Francisco, when the two longtime friends from the Dominican Republic got together after a Giants-Pirates game. The middle finger on Marichal's right hand was gashed and the Giant ace missed his next starting turn.

His status still was uncertain until the eighth inning Tuesday night, when he came out of the bullpen to choke off a Met rally and pick up the decision in his first relief venture of the year.

Mota, whose .350 average leads the league but who has not batted enough times to qualify, also was a late-inning replacement Tuesday night. He failed as a pinch hitter in the sixth inning but came through with the deciding hit off reliever Ron Perranoski after Bill Mazeroski's single, a sacrifice and a walk set the stage in the eighth.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati beat St. Louis 6-3, Philadelphia edged Houston 4-3 and Chicago topped Atlanta 6-5 in 12 innings.

Baltimore outscored Cleveland 8-6, Detroit shut out Chicago 5-0, Minnesota trimmed Boston 7-3, Kansas City nipped Washington 4-3 and California downed New York 6-5 in 11 innings in American League play.

Ossie Virgil drove in three runs, pacing the Giants' comeback from behind victory over New York. His two-run single highlighted a three-run rally in the eighth, which sent the Giants ahead 5-3, and Marichal protected the edge after the Mets scored a run off Frank Linzy in the bottom of the inning.

Homers by Ken Boyer and Bob Taylor had helped New York build an early 3-1 lead.

The Pirates spotted Los Angeles a 3-1 margin on homers by Lou Johnson and Jim Lefebvre, then knocked out Don Drysdale and moved ahead 5-4 on a two-run homer by Donn Clendenon and Gene Alley's solo shot. The Dodgers tied it in the sixth on Johnson's single and a run-scoring double by Tommy Davis.

Deron Johnson's three-run homer in the seventh snapped a 5-5 deadlock and lifted the Reds to their 13th victory in the last 16 games. Vada Pinson also homered for Cincinnati. The Cardinals stranded 14 base runners.

The Phillies won their fifth in a row, overcoming a 3-2 deficit on Cookie Rojas' two-run single in the seventh. Bob Aspromonte homered for the Astros, who have lost 10 of their last 11.

Byron Browne's two-out single in the 12th delivered the winning run for the Cubs, who had tied the score in the sixth when Don Kessinger singled after Hank Aaron lost Browne's fly ball in the sun for a triple. Aaron drove in four Atlanta runs with his 31st homer, a single and a bases-loaded walk.

Fabulous 'Castle in Sky,' Wilhelmina Inn Draws Crowds

By MAX LOVE,
Travel Writer,
Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission

Fabulous Wilhelmina Inn, the breath-taking heart and pulse of Queen Wilhelmina State Park — 15 miles northwest of the town of Mena in west Central Arkansas — has a fascinating history that spans a period of more than 70 years.

The new inn stands upon the old foundation and greatly resembles the original Wilhelmina Hotel, which was built upon the summit of Rich Mountain in the late 1890's as a plush wilderness resort.

The original hotel was the "brain child" of promoters of the Kansas City Southern Railway which, at that time, was under construction across the mountains and through the dense forest regions of western Arkansas. The railroad people felt that such a resort hotel would attract guests from throughout the nation and even from foreign lands and, in so doing, it would boost passenger traffic on their line.

Because so much Dutch money was being invested in the new railroad, Arthur Stillwell, president of Kansas City Southern, decided to name the new inn after the ruling monarch of Holland, thus the name Wilhelmina Hotel. Also, it was the hope of Mr. Stillwell and the other members of the board of directors of the railroad, that Queen Wilhelmina would visit the hotel and there was some talk of the possibility of the Queen's making the resort her summer palace.

A "Royal Suite" was prepared in the hotel in anticipation of the Queen's visit.

The luxurious "Castle in the Sky" opened on July 22, 1898, with much pomp and formalities and for a brief period it became a "play spot" for many important personages including visitors from Holland, Germany and Spain.

The original hotel was a three-story structure of English architecture, boasting 35 guest rooms and staff quarters, in addition to the "Royal Suite."

The dining room, which also served as a ballroom, had a seating capacity of some 300 persons.

For some unexplained reason, the plush hotel closed after only three years of operation and during the following five decades, wind, rain and vandalism reduced the once stately structure to a pile of rubble.

The State of Arkansas acquired the property — 640 acres — in 1958 as a state park and work began immediately to restore the historic inn to at least a semblance of her former glory. At the same time, the rest of the new park grounds were developed into a fairland of scenic beauty.

The new building is a beautiful two-story structure, greatly resembling the architecture of the old hotel.

It has 16 modern hotel-type rooms on the second floor. And in keeping with the tradition of the past, one of these elegant rooms has been designated as the "Queen's Suite."

The ground floor of the new Inn has a large lounge, centering around a huge fireplace; a dining room with normal seating capacity of over 250 persons; a modern kitchen; a gift shop; and office space.

Other park facilities include a miniature railroad which takes visitors on a two mile circuit of the mountaintop; a modern campground with all of the facilities necessary to make camping out a pleasure; a modern playground for children; scenic trails which lead to places like famed, "Lover's Leap", a perpendicular drop of about 1,500 feet to a rugged canyon below; the Wonder House, also known as the "House of Seven Levels"; and many other interesting scenic spots.

Rich Mountain, on which the park is located, rises almost 3,000 feet above sea level and is one of the highest points between the Appalachians and the Rockies. The mountain is approximately 25 miles long, rising near Mena and running almost due west into Oklahoma.

At the present time, a $9 million scenic sky line highway is being built across the mountaintop from a point near Mena, through the Ouachita National Forest, to a point near Tilihina, Oklahoma. Two miles of this drive will be through the state park, passing only a few hundred feet from Wilhelmina Inn.

Completion date of the drive is not known but it is believed it will open within the next 12 to 16 months.

When the sky line drive is completed, Queen Wilhelmina State Park is expected to reach new heights of popularity and it is very likely that she will become the number one scenic attraction in Arkansas.

College Is 'In'

By BILL CARTER
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PINEVILLE, LA.—(NEA) — This is the "in" age where acceptance depends on your wardrobe of mini-skirts... make of your motor bike... and the width of your ties... presently four inches on the... Madison Avenue (ale).

Football hasn't escaped, either.

Any self-respecting college professional team should have a soccer-style placekicker, preferably of foreign extraction, who makes Lou Proza as anachronistic as a three-inch tie.

A young man from Israel has brought the "mod" age to the Southland.

Amnon Gimpelevitz is a remedial student at Louisiana College, a Baptist school. Like all red-blooded American colleges, Louisiana College has a football team. The young man, like most of the other students, attended the games.

During one game, he was shocked to discover that a member of the visiting team did nothing but kick the football. He didn't even wear pads. It seemed a bit strange to the 23-year-old honor student from Jerusalem.

"You mean he just comes to the game to kick and does nothing else?" asked an unbelieving Amnon. "Why I can kick that well."

Amnon's friends laughed.

thinking he was kidding. He was serious. Gimpelevitz was a pretty good soccer player in Israel. Good enough to play on the best teams in that land. If he could kick a soccer ball, why not a football?

When Amnon heard about the Gogolak boys, who had become outstanding placekickers soccer-style, he went to Coach dents to rush him, as in a game. Satisfied he could kick field goals under game conditions, Amnon told his story to coach Southern. The coach was impressed.

ISRAELI IMPORT Amnon Gimpelevitz is another in a long line of soccer-style placekickers on American football team. He's with Louisiana College.

"Amnon is almost automatic from the 30-yard line (40-yard kick) and is accurate as far out as the 45," said Southern. "If he can kick like that in a game, he can help us a lot."

If Gimpelevitz makes the team, his studies would prevent him from working out with the squad, and he would never wear pads. "I would just go to the game to kick, like that other fellow," said Amnon.

As required of all boys and girls in Israel, Gimpelevitz entered the Army following his graduation from high school, but most of his two and one-half years were spent out of uniform working in the popular national youth program. Upon his discharge, he was encouraged by doctors in Jerusalem to come to the United States for his medical schooling.

"They suggested a Southern school," says Amnon. "I wrote to several schools. All sent me a brochure and routine questionnaires. But Professor C. J. Cavanaugh wrote me a real nice letter, explaining everything here, and that's why I chose Louisiana College. As soon as I got here, I knew I had made the right choice."

Soon after his arrival here, some of the Jewish people in town arranged a scholarship for Amnon at Louisiana College. In return, he teaches Hebrew to youngsters in private homes.

And he practices placekicking, soccer-style.

What's that about Tulane and LSU? Louisiana College is way ahead of those schools on the "outer" fringes.

Lockhart, who is also president of the Eastern Hockey League, formerly worked for Madison Square Garden 35 years. He is a member of the Olympic executive committee.

Plan a Junior Olympics in Hockey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Thomas F. Lockhart, who organized the Amateur Hockey Association in 1935 and has been its only president, says plans are in the works for a Junior Olympic championship in hockey.

Lockhart, here for the annual AHA meeting, hopes to have eight teams in a tournament. Two would be from the AACU, two from New England and one each from Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and New York.

"The players would be under 21 and must be American citizens," said Lockhart.

Lockhart, who is also president of the Eastern Hockey League, formerly worked for Madison Square Garden 35 years. He is a member of the Olympic executive committee.

THE CURRENT RAGE among major league outfielders, it seems, is to take to the stands to catch a fly ball. Two of these four outfield acrobats were successful—San Francisco's Len Gabrielson and Baltimore's Frank Robinson (bottom left and center). Tommy McCraw (top) of the White Sox and Rick Reichardt of the Angels had to settle for nice tries.

Eyes One Big Win

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (NEA) The biographical blurb about him in the Daytona International Speedway press handout is something Wendell Scott will show his grandchildren.

It begins, "Wendell Scott is the only Negro in Grand National racing and one of the most popular drivers on the circuit."

In the Speedway garage, a man whose grimy shirt advertised a muffler shop in Atlanta talked about Scott's popularity and presence:

"He knows how to get along with people and that's why we let him drive."

Scott knows comments like these wouldn't bring cheers in CORE headquarters. But to him, they sound "fine, just fine." So does the patter of applause he hears when he turns into the pits after a race.

"Long time coming," he said. "It makes me feel good."

At 44, Scott is one of the oldest drivers in stock car racing. He has been on the Grand National Tour since 1961, finishing higher in the point standings each year. Currently he stands eighth.

To get this far, he fought off hardships and ignored indignities in a sport that virtually belongs to southern whites.

Wendell Scott has not cracked any racial barriers in the sense he has opened the way for other Negroes. He merely has won a measure of personal acceptance.

It has occurred to him that he could concentrate on being a Jackie Robinson of racing, but he says the thought stops right there.

"The only way I can help is to be a man and be a good driver. Anyway, things are gettin' better. I still run into a smart aleck now and then, but it's nothin' like it used to be."

In those early years there were threats and slurs from fans, sneers and cursing from drivers, late-night phone calls to his Danville, Va., home which frightened his wife and six children.

"I spent more time duckin' wrecks than I did racing," he said. "I've been run off more tracks than I can remember. Worst I ever got was a busted chin. Dam-

One engine held together for a half year of racing.

To keep his expenses down, Scott is his own mechanic. He even has his own pit crew, climbing out of his car, gassing it up or changing a tire and taking off again.

Lean and stooped, Scott shifts nervously as he speaks, his calloused hands tinkering with mechanisms under the hood. His face is drawn and weathered and a smile is partially hidden behind a ragged mustache.

"Figured I'd have to give up racing in December when I got sick. Had to have an ulcer taken out. I'd been sick all my life and didn't know it because I thought that was the way you were supposed to feel."

"You should see the cards and letters I got when I was hid up, people asking if they could help. Made me feel good."

Some of Wendell Scott's best friends, it turns out, are stock car drivers.

Age to my cars was what hurt because I couldn't afford to fix 'em."

He's travel to the Carolinas or Georgia for a race to be told to go back home, unless an extra car was needed to fatten the field.

He got into a modified stock race in Maryland once and won it, competing for $250 first prize. The promoter gave him $36 and told him to hit the road.

Wendell Scott figures those days are behind him now.

"No sense diggin' up the past. Don't forget people down here built stock car racing and this is what I love. I'm not much good to anybody without it."

Just once, before he quits, Scott would like to win a big race, like the Daytona 500 or the Rebel 400. He won one Grand National race at Jacksonville in 1963.

"He is a good, consistent driver," the press blurb reads, "and undoubtedly would do better with first-class equipment." His pale blue 1964 Ford runs 10 to 20 miles an hour slower than the leaders.

"I just stand on it, try to stay out of everybody's way and hope it don't blow," he said. "I've been tryin' to get factory help for five years. It takes more than guts and luck in this business."

Ford has given Scott two used engines, after they had been raced by one of NASCAR's top drivers, Curtis Turner.

Mickey Owen Still Catches --As Sheriff

By JERRY CURRY
Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — For 13 years Mickey Owen was a man behind the catcher's mask. Now he's a man behind the gun. He's the sheriff, a family occupation, in Greene county.

Owen is remembered for dropping a third strike in the fourth game of the 1941 World Series. The error led to four unearned ninth inning runs that helped the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7-4, and eventually win the series.

"People seem to forget that I handled 509 chances in 1940 and 1941 without error," jumbled the lawman who once jumped the majors for more money in the Mexican League.

Owen, who also runs a baseball school for boys in Miller, Mo., was elected Greene county sheriff in 1964 and says it's a lot like baseball.

"Law enforcement runs in the family," he says. "My great grandfather was a sheriff and so was my great granduncle. Now I'm carrying on the tradition."

But Owen, still trim at 50, has upset tradition.

He has started:

A volunteer fire department to protect county homes and fields.

A sheriff's department canine corps—eight German shepherds, two doberman pinchers and four bloodhounds.

A volunteer posse of 12 men, mounted on horses as aids in searches for lost persons or criminals in wooded areas.

And he works closely with youth programs in the area giving them sports equipment he obtains as an advisor for a large department store chain.

Greene county, except for Springfield, a bustling city of 98,000 is still largely rural and this is where Owen does most of his work.

"Hello, Mickey," comes a greeting as he leaves the courthouse walking toward his car, a western hat on his head and a revolver on his hip.

"Going to be great quail hunting this fall," answers the sheriff. "I heard the birds all over the place when we were checking out the burglary this morning."

Owen slides in his car, buckles the seat belt and begins talking about the fire department he began:

"Hasn't cost the taxpayers a cent. The firemen are all volunteers and I personally underwrite the cost of the equipment...Then we go after donations and if that's not enough we have a few pie suppers."

There are 13 fire units in operation and Owen is working on another.

Owen runs his office like a baseball manager who keeps trying new ideas to win any way he can.

Behind the Legends

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Almost at the exact moment Tony Lema crashed tragically in flames on a golf course in Illinois, Fred Corcoran was winging east from the PGA and Akron, Ohio, in the same type of private plane.

In flight, Corcoran, who didn't know about the accident, bemoaned the haste of professional golfers to leave the scene of action after a tournament. Arnold Palmer had buzzed the 18th green of Firestone Country Club in his jet plane while Al Geiberger was signing his winning card.

"Lema was in and out of the clubhouse in 15 minutes," said Corcoran, who was Tony's agent. Symbolically, Lema had left his shoes behind.

Corcoran had been Lema's business adviser almost from the time he popped his first champagne cork to start a golf legend. To the public, Tony was a swinger, a bon vivant with a flip attitude and, apparently, not a care in the world.

In reality, Lema was wound up tight and, the last couple of years at least, sought the seclusion of intimate friends when he wasn't exposed on the golf course.

At the Bob Hope Classic in plush Palm Springs, with its hip social set, I remember Tony sitting every night in the apartment he rented with his wife Betty and playing a fast game of dominoes. He had phobias. Corcoran was talking about him on the plane going home and noting that because Tony wouldn't sleep in a room that wasn't air-conditioned, Fred had to install a unit in his Westchester County home—or Tony wouldn't visit him.

It's funny the way sports can create an image. Casey Stengel's a kindly old gent who promotes the Mets. Behind the scenes he's crusty and sometimes cruel, with a healthy dose of egomania. Yogi Berra, who inspires comic strips and night club gags, probably never said a funny phrase in his life, intentionally. There is no wit in the Berra who sits around a dugout before a game. There isn't even spontaneous congeniality. But he's got a tremendous pluggin' in Joe Garagiola, his boyhood buddy, who dotes on Berra tales that enhance his own reputation as a raconteur.

Around the football conclaves, everyone's aware of the stately coach who looks like he should be an ambassador to the Court of St. James's and comes off as a courtly gentleman, the kind you'd like to bring home to mother. Watch out for mother. This guy's one of the slickest swingers around.

Before his 1963 marriage to Betty, who died with him in the plane crash, Tony was a normal, red-blooded bachelor. But he had also been married once before and had a little boy, facts he carefully shielded from public knowledge because he didn't want to embarrass the boy.

He didn't even swig champagne. Tony was a scotch and water man with a peel of lemon. The champagne bit was an accident anyhow, derived from an off-the-cuff remark the day before he won his first tournament at the Mesa Verde Club in California.

Legend has him saying, "If I win this, we won't be drinking this tomorrow." And he crumpled his can of beer. "We'll have champagne."

Actually, he confessed to me, "I said, 'I won't be drinking this tomorrow.' But the newspaper men sort of included themselves in."

Tony went along with the gag and bought the champagne. He really didn't buy it, though, in the subsequent tournaments he won because the Moet people, recognizing a good thing, signed Tony up and supplied the bubbly after his victories.

I don't mean to imply that Tony was stodgy. He was urbane and witty and dressed like a slicker. He was also frank enough to say that he choked after he blew a possible championship.

And he was good for us writers. He was unfailingly cooperative and invariably different.

He was the only athlete I ever interviewed in a steam room.

Hunt for Hunt Ends

NEW YORK—(NEA)—"The Great Ron Hunt Robbery" has been solved.

It wasn't even a robbery. Just a case of a missing label.

But for more than a week, the New York Mets' second baseman—usually the subject of profound conversations in the barrooms of Canarsie, Red Hook and Flushing—found himself in more exclusive company.

They were talking about him at the Metropolitan... at the Whitney... at the Guggenheim... and in all the posh galleries up and down Madison Avenue.

The original Hunt—the only Hunt—was missing from its easel at the Manhattan Savings Bank.

The portrait—worth $8,000—was part of an exhibit of paintings by Nicholas Volpe, who had been commissioned to do 11 other Mets.

On the appointed day, the portraits were delivered to the Midtown bank, but there were only 11 crates.

Ron Hunt was missing.

The police were called, the Railway Express Agency sent its own investigators, but still there was no trace of the painting.

As the search continued, a clerk at the main REA store-room noticed a huge crate without a label. Its dimensions seemed to fit the description of the missing painting.

When workmen opened the crate, they found a smiling Ron Hunt.

It could only happen to a Met.

The treadmill was once applied as a penal sentence in England as a means of "employing criminals usefully." Under the British Prison Act of 1865 every male prisoner over 16, sentenced to hard labor, had to spend at least three months of his sentences on the treadmill or, as an alternative, the crank. Both the treadmill and the crank were in use in English prisons as late as 1901.

Jim has a problem for his father:

Jim: "Take a look at the North and East hands and the bidding. Your partner opens the four of spades. The ten is played from dummy. What do you do with the East hand?"

Oswald: "I think, then I think a little more. Eventually I decide to go against the normal rule of third hand high and play my five spot. If my partner has led from the ace and king I will really look silly but I figure at least 100 to one chance of finding at least one top spade honor in declarer's hand."

Jim: "You are right on all counts. Declarer does hold the ace of spades. If you put up your queen he will have a sure spade entry for dummy's diamond suit and a cinch for at least nine tricks. If you play low you will kill the entry. He still can make the hand by unusual play but the chances are he will wind up going down a couple of tricks."

Oswald: "Let's look at the whole hand. If I play low on the spade 1 must also duck the first diamond. Then if he tries a second diamond finesse he will be shut out of dummy entirely."

Jim: "The play to make the hand is to assume both minor suit kings are misplaced. After winning one diamond he goes after clubs but he refuses to finesse. This way he loses only two club tricks and winds up with three club tricks plus two tricks in each other suit."

Star Boys Have Real Week-End at Six Flags, and Meet Song Star From Blevins

— Hope (Ark.) Star photo, Pod Rogers

Six Flags Over Texas is a famous entertainment center, and one of its attractions is the Crazy Horse Saloon serving soft drinks and light entertainment — and that's where seven Hope Star carrier boys headed for first on an outing last week-end.

One of their reasons was that the star of the show is Delaine Bonds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bonds of Blevins — and she promptly reserved the front row for the boys from her home county.

Jack Stringer, manager of the Sands motel & restaurant, congratulated the carriers on being a nice crew of boys and welcomed them back any time. He is in back row at right.

Steel Price Marked Up by Inland

WASH. (TON) AP — Inland Steel Co. of Chicago boosted its prices for strip and sheet metal by $2 to $3 a ton Tuesday and top White House officials immediately caught the administration by surprise.

Asked later about the meeting, Ackley said the council is "studying" the situation but did not comment further.

Inland Chairman Joseph L. Block announced the price increase — described by company officials as "moderate" — at the end of the business day. It was not immediately clear whether other big steel producers would follow Inland's lead.

Inland went along with the boost a few days later but after U.S. Steel — under heavy administration pressure — announced only a $2.74 increase, both Inland and Bethlehem backed down. The compromise, described by Johnson as within his wage-price guidelines, set off a stock market surge.

Inland played a different role in the 1962 steel industry battle with the John F. Kennedy administration when it refused to follow a general price increase initiated by U.S. Steel — the No. 1 producer. Kennedy forced the industry to rescind its price hikes.

Tuesday the company specifically raised its price on prime grade hot rolled sheets and strips from $5.30 a hundred pounds to $5.45. Prime grade cold rolled strips were similarly boosted 15 cents to $6.67, a hundred pounds. Secondary grades were raised 10 cents.

through arrangements with Jack Wilcox, College Revue manager.

Pryor Calls on Arnold for Debate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
David Pryor challenged his foe in the 4th District congressional runoff to prove a charge that Pryor is linked with national labor interests.

Pryor spent much of a speech televised Tuesday night addressing Richard Arnold, the 30-year-old Texarkana attorney whom he led in the July 26 special and regular Democratic primary elections.

Arnold charged the night before in a television speech that Pryor is dominated by union bosses. He said Tuesday that he had had a tremendous public response to the charge.

Pryor, 31, a state representative from Camden, said he was deeply shocked that Arnold "would inject the names of Jimmy Hoffa and Walter Reuther into our campaign, saying in public that they have made large contributions to my campaign."

"I emphatically declare," Pryor said, "that this is an outright falsehood and I challenge you to prove the statement that you made. As you well know, as late as this last Sunday, you told a mutual friend that you had no foundation to support your statement, but that you were going to say it anyway."

Chaney, Matthews in Whittier Golf

WHITTIER, Calif. (AP) — Two Arkansans were several strokes off the top performances in the first round qualifying of the U.S.G.A. Junior Golf Championships here Tuesday.

Jack Chaney of North Little Rock had a 40-40—80 and David Matthews of Fayetteville a 41-41—82. The leaders posted 72s.

Both give hope to the United States, which has been pouring up to half a billion dollars a year in economic aid into South Viet Nam.

Chinese, Korean and American experts say South Viet Nam ultimately can be self-sustaining but they caution that American aid must be used carefully and with an awareness of shortcomings that developed elsewhere. The Chinese and Koreans are helping the Americans in Viet Nam by sending technicians there to help teach techniques that Americans taught them.

However, the Chinese and Koreans feel that the U.S. aid program in Viet Nam cannot really get under way until the war ends.

"Based on our experience on the mainland, you cannot win two wars at once," says S. Y. Dao, economist who heads Nationalist China's Council for International Economic Cooperation and Development. "You must win the military war before you can win the social war."

Travelers Lose Again, But by 1-0

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Floyd Wicker started the game off with a double but that was the apex of Arkansas' attack as Dallas-Fort Worth posted a 1-0 Texas League baseball victory here Tuesday night.

Rookie hurler Joe Nickro gave up only one more Arkansas hit, an eighth-inning single by Bill Wolfe. Nickro retired 17 straight at one stretch.

The Spurs' run was unearned. Mike Torrez walked Clarence Jones in the seventh, then threw a wild pitch which let Jones go to second. Jesse White followed with a single to center that Joe Patterson fumbled for an error, allowing Jones to score.

The first-place Travelers fell one game as Amarillo beat El Paso 3-2 in 15 innings. Arkansas still leads by four games.

Elsewhere in the league, Austin took a 7-5 victory over Albuquerque, which comes to Little Rock tonight.

Boom on in Formosa and Also Korea

By EUGENE LEVIN
TAIPEI, Formosa, (AP) — In terms of economic development Formosa and South Korea have emerged from the ruins of war Asia.

Can South Viet Nam, with U.S. aid, match them when peace comes?

Not so long ago Formosa and South Korea were as desperate as South Viet Nam, with their survival seemingly dependent on endless American aid.

Formosa, stronghold of Nationalist China, is moving rapidly ahead now without U.S. aid. South Korea, increasingly confident, is receiving loans instead of outright grants.

Both countries started on the road to economic progress after wars against communism. Thus they stand as examples for Viet Nam.

Chinese, Korean and American experts say South Viet Nam ultimately can be self-sustaining but they caution that American aid must be used carefully and with an awareness of shortcomings that developed elsewhere. The Chinese and Koreans are helping the Americans in Viet Nam by sending technicians there to help teach techniques that Americans taught them.

However, the Chinese and Koreans feel that the U.S. aid program in Viet Nam cannot really get under way until the war ends.

"Based on our experience on the mainland, you cannot win two wars at once," says S. Y. Dao, economist who heads Nationalist China's Council for International Economic Cooperation and Development. "You must win the military war before you can win the social war."

Dao points to the Chinese land reform program which barely got under way on the mainland before the Communist takeover there. The reform was carried out in Formosa, giving more than 80 per cent of the island's farmers the ownership of the land they tilled.

It was also the basis of a land reform program tried in South Viet Nam by the old Diem regime. Politics in Saigon and Red terrorism in the countryside blocked the effort.

Americans in Formosa feel the reform here was successful because it was carried out by a strong government under conditions of peace and order.

"The people first learned to feed and clothe themselves," an American explained. "Other developments followed naturally."

The concept was to provide employment for the farmers and thereby generate income. The result was the almost automatic development of industry.

"We avoided show and prestige projects," one American said.

The Chinese and Americans here say this is a major lesson for South Viet Nam.

In both South Korea and Formosa there has been waste, and the value of American restraint is generally recognized in holding aid requests down. If the decisions were Taipei's alone, some Americans feel, Nationalist China might still be obtaining U.S. aid.

Another lesson for Viet Nam, according to the Chinese and Koreans, is political stability. Experts in Taipei credit the Chiang Kai-shek regime for this.

Officials in Seoul acknowledge that much American aid was dissipated after the Korean war because of political unrest. The stability there the past two years, under President Chung Hee Park, looks like a key to South Korea's upswing.

Diplomats and economists in Seoul and Taipei acknowledge that their countries may have had some advantages in comparison with South Viet Nam.

South Korea had a high literacy rate with a people known for their capacity to learn. Formosa, although shattered by World War II and civil war, had basic things left over from its Japanese occupation such as power, railroads and some industry.

But looking back, Americans, Chinese and Koreans admit they did not dream in the 1950s that these countries would be where they are today.

Of the two Asian economies, Formosa's is far ahead. South Koreans, as they gain confidence, often speak of "catching up with Taiwan."

Texan Faces Arkansas Death Count

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP) — Dennis Sossamon, 19, a Texan charged with first-degree murder, was jailed here Tuesday after officers picked him up at Oklahoma City.

Sossamon, of near Dallas, was charged in connection with the death of Kenneth Kienlen, also 19, of near Oklahoma City. Kienlen disappeared July 1 after telling his grandparents he planned to drive to Little Rock.

Police found a body near here Saturday and by studying records decided that it was Kienlen.

Sossamon was being held in Oklahoma City on a car-theft charge, but he waived extradition to Arkansas on the murder charge.

Sheriff Tom Wilbanks of Crawford County and State Policeman Troy Oliver brought Sossamon here. During the trip from the Oklahoma City jail to the sheriff's car, Sossamon kicked at a television camera man and lunged at another photographer, but neither was injured.

PRIVY COUNCIL

PERRY, Kan. (AP) — The city of Perry, enforcing a sanitation ordinance, insisted that one of its oldtimers discard his outdoor plumbing and adopt indoor conveniences.

"I've been using an outhouse for over 70 years," he replied, "and I'm old to change now."

The city conceded, and he connected his outdoor facility to the sewer instead.

Michigan's Mennen in Major Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Former Governor G. Mennen Williams, a strong supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, stormed to a big victory Tuesday over Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh for Michigan's Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination.

In other top primaries, State Sen. Don Samuelson upset Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his bid for the Republican gubernatorial renomination and Sen. James B. Pearson and Gov. William H. Avery won renomination in the Kansas Republican primary.

Williams, 55, who served six terms as Michigan's governor, was endorsed by most of the state's powerful union leaders. His November opponent will be Sen. Robert Griffin, who was unopposed in the Republican primary.

Williams, who visited all of the state's 83 counties during the bitter campaign, jumped into an early lead over the Detroit mayor and pulled steadily ahead. Sharpest issue of their race, which attracted national attention, was the administration's war policy: Cavanagh opposed escalation and called for greater U.S. nonmilitary efforts in Viet Nam.

After Cavanagh's defeat, Republican Griffin went to his headquarters in an attempt to seek support for the race against Williams. But the senator was unable to see the mayor.

Williams told Cavanagh he and "all his supporters" were welcome "to join with us in the job that has to be done."

Idaho's Samuelson, who piled up steady pluralities in most of the state's 44 counties, was backed by the party's more conservative elements in his race against Smylie.

Only two trainees have handled Michigan State athletes. Jack Heppinstall served from 1914 through 1959 then was succeeded by Gayle Robinson who currently holds the post.

Sniper Blast Revives Anti Gun Bill

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years bills to put some kind of federal curbs on the sale of firearms, even though the proposed curbs were mild, have kicked around in Congress without final action.

Now the slaughter at Austin, Tex. — where an ex-Marine, Charles Joseph Whitman, killed 15 people and wounded 31 before he was shot to death by police — has aroused new interest in the legislation.

But the pressures against it in the past have been strong and prevailed and may prevail again once the shock of these latest killings has passed.

Three months before President John F. Kennedy was assassinated by Lee Harvey Oswald in 1963, using a rifle bought by mail order, a firearms-curbs bill was offered in Congress.

It got a lot of attention after Kennedy's death but wound up nowhere.

Last March President Johnson, sending a package of anti-crime proposals to Congress, asked particularly for legislation curbing the sale of firearms through the mails, including rifles and shotguns.

In May a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency by a 6-3 vote approved the kind of firearms bill Johnson wanted and then sent it to the full Senate Judiciary Committee for action. There it still sits.

Tuesday Johnson, shocked by what had happened in Austin Monday, urged Congress to do something about the curbs on firearms, saying, "We must press urgently for a federal gun control law."

And Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary, said Johnson will push for stronger legislation controlling the sale of guns than the bill approved in May by the Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee.

But neither Johnson's urging nor the gigantic tragedy in Austin is going to snowball a firearms control bill through Congress. Already Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., has said: It would be "deplorable to trade on the emotion generated by the sniper incident."

Among other things the bill approved by the subcommittee would: Ban the interstate mail order sale of concealable firearms — pistols and revolvers — to individuals and regulate the interstate sale of sporting rifles and shotguns through an affidavit provision.

This would require a person purchasing a rifle through the mail to give his name and address and swear he was not a criminal. Then his affidavit would be forwarded to the police in his community to check on him.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee, said the legislation had been subjected to "unreasonable" attacks by lobbying groups.

He said "something can and must be done to keep deadly weapons out of the hands of those individuals who through sickness, uncontrollable anger or overwhelming fury have no regard for human life."

"Those persons who say that anyone who wants a gun will get it somehow, may be right. But does it make sense that the mentally ill, the irresponsible, and the criminal should be able to obtain a potential murder weapon with no questions asked?"

Fogleman Is Endorsed for Court

The Hempstead County Bar Association, in its Regular Session Tuesday, August 2, unanimously endorsed the candidacy of John A. Fogleman for the Supreme Court of Arkansas.

This is the only supreme court race left on the ballot. The endorsement was based on his qualifications and the fact that Eastern Arkansas has not had a Judge on the Supreme Court of Arkansas for many years.

Farm Income Runs at Record High in Arkansas, Says U.S.

By GORDON BROWN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first five months of 1966 Arkansas farmers are running slightly ahead of the corresponding period of 1965 in cash income from farm products — and 1965 was a record year.

Up to June 1, an Agriculture Department report shows, Arkansas farmers took in $216,028,000 from sales of crops and livestock, compared with $203,506,000 up to June 1 a year ago.

For the entire year of 1965, Arkansas farmers had cash sales of $915,507,000 — a new high. This compared with $881,458,000 for 1964 and $825,173,000 for 1963.

However, the fact that the five-month total for 1966 is ahead of 1965 doesn't necessarily mean that Arkansas farmers are headed for another record year.

The bulk of farm marketings in Arkansas comes late in the year — usually the last quarter — when cotton sales are heavy.

So much depends on what happens to farm crops and livestock — and to farm prices — the rest of the year.

Drought undoubtedly already has cut into yields.

Of sales made through June, $153,190,000 came from livestock and livestock products, compared with $126,588,000 a year previous, and $62,838,000

Senate Unit Puts Strike Up to LBJ

WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today to order compulsory arbitration if the airline strike is not settled by bargaining during a proposed six-month back-to-work period.

It was the first Senate vote on legislation dealing with the 27-day walkout, and it left unanswered the major question: whether and how Congress is going to force an end to the walkout.

The vote knocked down an amendment proposed by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, who wanted a five-man board to hand down a final, binding contract settlement if the AFL-CIO Machinists Union and five major airlines do not negotiate one.

Lausche's arbitration plan would have taken effect after expiration of the 180-day strike half proposed to the Senate in two versions.

One would have Congress issue the strike stopping order; the other would leave that to President Johnson.

While the Senate argued, then rejected the Lausche plan, its leaders and lawyers worked behind the scenes to draft compromise legislation which would share the responsibility — and labor's political blame — for any strike-stopping order.

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A divided Senate today seeks a compromise course under which Congress and President Johnson would share the political blame for any order to 35,000 striking machinists to return to their jobs on five grounded airlines.

"That's the crux of it," said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen. "Who accepts the onus."

Organized labor strongly opposes any back-to-work order. And with congressional elections four months away, Johnson has made clear that he doesn't want the assignment of issuing such an order without Congress sharing some of the responsibility.

But before the Senate now is a resolution which would require a presidential order if the 27-day walkout is to be ended for up to six months.

During the six months, efforts would be made to reach a settlement between the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and the five struck lines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United. An agreement worked out at the White House last Friday was rejected Sunday by union members.

came from crops, compared with $76,918,000 a year ago. In the state's record farm year of 1965, the big total of nearly $1 billion was divided $367,419,000 from sales of livestock and livestock products and $548,088,000 from sales of crops.

Farm income also is augmented by government payments under the various farm programs and the department said that for 1966 these payments would likely be a third higher than for 1965.

Rockefeller to Be Here on Friday

The Southwest Arkansas Regional Headquarters of the Rockefeller-Britt campaign will hold its formal opening Friday, August 5, at 5 p.m. The headquarters are at 116 East Third St. in Hope.

Alfred E. Cross, 1901 Locust Street, Texarkana, has been appointed Southwest Arkansas Regional Director of the campaign. Mrs. Cross and Mrs. Esther White, 1104 Park Drive, will be headquarters receptionists.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Win Rockefeller, Maurice "Footsie" Britt, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Jerry Thomason, candidate for attorney general, will attend the opening and meet supporters. Additional plans are being made by the regional director.

The Southwest Arkansas Region consists of Hempstead, Howard, Sevier, Little River, Miller, Nevada and Lafayette counties. The state has been divided into 14 regions, with each region representing a community of counties with common needs and interests. Rockefeller-Britt headquarters will serve each region, with additional headquarters serving some counties.

Cross, 70, is a retired insurance salesman. He is first vice commander of the Texarkana post of the American Legion and he has served in the Arkansas General Assembly. He was a member of the Lions Club for 20 years.

Cross is a Baptist deacon. He served on the Board of Deacons of Beech Street Baptist Church. He has been superintendent of the Adult Department of the Sunday School for 26 years.

Mrs. Adelle Cross serves as a receptionist in the headquarters. Mr. and Mrs. Cross have one son, Ralph, 42.

Most Important Is Walking to Work, So Says Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the hardest things in the world is to give credit where credit is due.

We often fail to separate the popular from the permanent. Caught up in the enthusiasms of the day, we overpraise what is faddish, fail to appreciate what has lasting worth.

Periodically, we should reassess our values to be sure we aren't preserving what it would be better to cast away — and overlooking something we should cherish before it passes. Here, for example is one man's list of things he feels are currently somewhat underrated:

The importance of walking to work in the morning. Anyone who does this regularly manages to exercise his own senseless anger at the world out of his system, and gets to his job in a balanced mood.

Horseshoe pitching. No man who made horseshoe pitching a hobby has ever been known to sell his country's secrets to a foreign power, or been convicted of piracy on the high seas.

Competitive bubblegum blowing. As long as children are engaged in seeing who can blow the biggest bubble, they refrain from stealing cars, or writing profane words on sidewalks or fences.

Gunman Toll in Texas Now Is 16

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov.

John B. Connally called a meeting with Texas law enforcement officials today to discuss the Charles Joseph Whitman homicide rampage which left 16 persons dead and 31 wounded.

Arrangements were made to fly the bodies of Whitman and his mother, the first person killed in the mass slayings, to their home town of Lake Worth, Fla., for burial.

Having cut short a Latin-American tour because of the tragedy, Connally arrived Tuesday night from Rio de Janeiro in what he described as a "shocked and saddened" condition.

The governor, who himself narrowly escaped death by gunfire when he was wounded in the Dallas assassination of President John F. Kennedy, said he would confer with Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and other state law officials.

He said he called the talks "in hopes of preventing a recurrence" of such shootings in Texas in the future.

In Washington, sponsors of gun-control legislation, under prodding from President Johnson, moved towards steering a bill to the Senate.

The possibility that brain disease caused Whitman, 25, to go berserk was raised Tuesday when a surgeon who performed an autopsy reported the ex-Marine had a tumor which might have caused intense pain.

A University of Texas psychiatrist, Dr. Maurice Dean Healy, disclosed that during an interview last March 29 Whitman said he thought about going up in the campus tower "with a deer rifle and shooting people."

Most of the victims in Whitman's outburst Monday were killed by rifle shots from the tower's 27th-floor level.

Dr. Healy said Whitman, whom he described as "self-centered and egocentric," failed to keep an appointment for a further interview the following week.

The psychiatrist's assessment of Whitman's personality came as a surprise to a Dallas man who said the former Marine was his roommate at the university in 1962.

"He was not just an average nice guy — he was above average," the man, who insisted on anonymity, told an interviewer.

"He was a typical all-American boy, and one of the most amicable fellows I've ever met. 'Charlie' was the easiest person in the world to get along with. As a roommate, he was superb."

may be a bit old-fashioned, but at least it makes sense, which is more than can be said of the verse of most modern poets.

Ham and eggs. People who eat ham and eggs regularly cause far less trouble in the world than those who gulp black coffee and three aspirins for breakfast.

Short Skirts. They teach a fellow what keeps most women going: homely legs.

Merry-go-rounds. They prove you can have a good time without getting anywhere in particular.

Carbon paper. It is the secret weapon of survival of any modern civilization. The duplicating and filing away of millions of useless memos keeps thousands of business and government clerks contentedly busy, thousands who might otherwise be unemployed and walking the streets fomenting revolutions.

Rock 'n' roll music. Should it be made illegal, all the liars who say they prefer Bach might really have to listen to him.

Television commercials. How could you switch and see what you were missing on another channel if it weren't for them?

Laundries. They're the only things you can give the shirt off your back to — and get it back clean.

Wives. Without them what possible reason would a fellow have for wishing he was still a bachelor?

Helicopters Ferry Troops to Fight on Cambodia Border

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Helicopters ferried heavy U.S. troop reinforcements into South Viet Nam's central plateau near Cambodia today as three days of fighting against North Vietnamese forces appeared building up into a major battle.

B52s rained bombs on suspected enemy troop positions and a base camp just one mile from the Cambodian frontier as the reinforcements from the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division swelled the American force to 10,000 or more men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes pounded the Haiphong oil depot Tuesday for the third time. North Viet Nam charged the Americans also bombed residential areas in the port city and hit a steel plant north of Hanoi Monday.

Navy pilots who attacked the Haiphong depot said the anti-aircraft fire was the heaviest they had ever encountered. "It was just like the movies, said one. One surface-to-air missile was sighted but the U.S. command said no planes were lost."

The 1st Cavalry reinforcements joined infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division who since Monday have fought a series of short, sharp engagements with the North Vietnamese.

The B52s bombed an area of the Chu Phong Mountains where at least three regiments of North Vietnamese regulars are reported operating.

U.S. military headquarters reported a 25th Division company killed 11 North Vietnamese in a brief fire-fight this morning. The U.S. soldiers took no casualties, the U.S. command said.

The command also reported that 25th Division infantrymen found 63 North Vietnamese bodies in a sweep after a two-hour clash Tuesday 10 miles west of the Plei Me Special Forces camp.

The action, a new phase of Operation Paul Revere, is being fought in a plateau area 10 miles east of Cambodia and about 25 miles southwest of Pleiku City.

Bad weather limited the raids on North Viet Nam Tuesday to 24 multiplane missions, far below the usual daily 100 or more missions. A spokesman said the weather was caused by Typhoon Phyllis in the Gulf of Tonkin, which was reported headed northward toward Communist China and part of North Viet Nam.

B52s also bombed today one mile south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam. They hit suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations and gun positions in support of U.S. Marines mopping up the area after two weeks of fighting in Operation Hastings.

American planes flew 477 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed destroying or damaging 497 enemy huts, buildings and fortifications. South Vietnamese planes flew 249 sorties.

Blast Tears Up Omaha Gas Station

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An explosion wrecked a filling station early today in the predominantly Negro area of Omaha, Neb., which had been the scene of racial violence for three straight mornings.

Police, unable to determine immediately whether a fire bomb had been thrown into the station, looked for a car carrying six white men which was seen speeding away from the area before the explosion.

Racial trouble also was reported Tuesday night in Chicago; Providence, R.I.; Perth Amboy, N.J.; and Atlanta, Ga.

The Omaha explosion followed a quiet night in the near North Side area where some merchants, armed with shotguns, guarded their stores.

Gov. Frank Morrison and Mayor A. V. Sorensen conferred about the racial trouble Tuesday, Omaha's second outbreak in a month.

Sorensen asked for an investigation of the fatal shooting of a youthful burglary suspect last week. Some Negro groups have attributed the recent outbreak of violence to the incident.

In Chicago, white hecklers again stoned and jeered civil rights demonstrators protesting alleged housing discrimination in an all-white Northwest Side neighborhood.

About 500 of the whites greeted 350 marchers with taunts and jeers Tuesday night and several missiles were thrown. But there were no injuries.

The white crowd was much smaller than the one Sunday which threatened a similar group of demonstrators and sent it hurrying from a Southwest Side neighborhood. In that disturbance, 60 persons were injured and 30 autos were wrecked.

A force of 140 policemen kept order Tuesday night, including 80 officers along the parade route. They shoved some of the hecklers back and hauled others away.

A spokesman for the marchers said they would return tonight.

In Providence, R.I., policemen and an armored police truck were called out when a group of young Negroes threw stones and bottles at firemen answering a call.

The fire was near the scene of a Monday night disturbance in which 22 Negroes were arrested after 100 threw debris at police.

Police said the latest disturbance subsided quickly. Extra uniformed patrolmen were ordered to patrol the south section of Providence.

For the fourth straight night in Perth Amboy, N.J., police were called out to quell a disturbance by Puerto Ricans who gathered in streets in apparent defiance of a new anti-loitering ordinance.

Sixteen policemen were injured, none seriously, in the Tuesday outbreak as youths hurled rocks and bottles. Police arrested 27 adults and seven juveniles on disorderly persons charges.

Several hundred Negroes chanted "black power" when they surrounded a motorcycle policeman attempting to give a traffic citation to a driver in a predominantly Negro neighborhood in Atlanta.

Police reinforcements dispersed the crowd after the motorcycle officer, B. C. Basham, was rescued by a squad car.

Authorities said an arrest warrant would be issued for Samuel B. Schultz, 20, a worker for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, if he fails to appear in court Aug. 17 to answer the traffic charges.

Deficit Drops in Foreign Exchange

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler reports preliminary figures indicate a substantial drop in the U.S. balance of payments deficit during the second quarter of this year.

Fowler declined at a news conference to cite any figures but said "we are holding our own" despite outlays required by the Viet Nam war. The deficit last year was $1.35 billion, about half that of 1964.

Psychology for Young Politicos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American University has established an educational center designed to train graduate students in political psychology and mass persuasion to combat Communist propaganda.

The center, for students going into government or foreign service, is sponsored by Arthur Meyerhoff Associates, Inc., Chicago advertising firm. It will be headed by Dr. Stephen H. Chowe of McLean, Va., formerly with the military intelligence service.
